SUMMARY

An engineering mind turned growth strategist, I've spent over a decade driving performance and brand outcomes for global and emerging brands — pioneering data-driven media strategies, automating reporting, and leading high-impact teams. Since 2025, as founder of Krunch Labs, I've extended that discipline into building the AI systems growth now runs on: production multi-agent pipelines, custom ERPs, and automation tools shipped for consumer and B2B clients across Southeast Asia and India. I turn ambiguity into measurable outcomes, whether the lever is a media budget or a multi-agent system.

EXPERIENCE

Founder & AI Systems Consultant Krunch Labs

January 2025 – Present, Singapore

AI-agent orchestration independently assessed by Y Combinator's Poxel: "unusually strong architectural judgment," operating "at a strong engineering level."

- Architected and shipped JewelAI Studio, a multi-service AI photography & video platform (Next.js, NestJS, LangGraph.js orchestration worker, Cloudflare edge worker) deployed across 4 independent services; engineered a multi-reference video-generation technique after evaluating and rejecting three competing AI models.
- Building MruNN-ERP, a chat-native ERP for Indian SMBs (Telegram + web) with an approval-gated architecture ensuring no data change ships without human sign-off; GST/HSN-compliant for Indian trading businesses (demo — ask for access).
- Designed a multi-agent AI photoshoot pipeline (creative-director, prompt-writer, and QA-critic agents with self-improving prompt memory) that converted raw supplier photos into 50+ on-brand catalog images across 20+ products for an apparel client.
- Orchestrated Clay, Attio, and other SaaS workflow APIs into a personalized multi-channel outreach engine for a client's demand-generation program — now a repeatable Krunch Labs service offering.
- Building TallyBridge (open source, MIT), syncing Indian accounting software to a queryable database with an AI-assistant interface (27 MCP tools) for plain-English financial queries.
- Owned the go-to-market growth engine for Artha, an AI-commerce SaaS, end-to-end — comms strategy, generative-AI ad creative, LinkedIn & Google Search campaign management, pixel/tracking setup, and a Looker Studio dashboard — for a ground-up brand launch on a lean budget.
